

LEADERSHIP PERSONAL TEAMWORK DEVELOPMENT

ERIC BOLES

Eric Boles is President of Edge Learning Institute, a training and development company dedicated to maximizing the human asset. Since 1973, Edge Learning Institute has been setting the standard for helping clients enhance their cultures and develop new levels of commitment. Edge's Leadership, Team and Personal development processes are used by the best companies in the world and have helped shape over four million successful leaders, managers and employees.

Eric is a highly acclaimed keynote speaker and consultant for some of the most recognized companies in the world and the elite special forces. His expertise is in team dynamics, leadership, maximizing momentum, personal growth and change. His clients include Starbucks Coffee Company, Southwest Airlines, Coca-Cola, Jack in the Box, Boeing, Alaska Airlines, IRS, Bonneville Power Administration and the Army Rangers to name a few.

Prior to becoming an authority on teamwork, leadership and personal development, Eric learned many principles of team dynamics and leadership from his experience playing in the National Football League (NFL) with the New York Jets and Green Bay Packers. Eric had the privilege of being coached and mentored by some of the finest coaches in the game.

Eric has presented all over North America with audiences ranging from 5 to 20,000 people. From the boardrooms of some of our nation's most prestigious Fortune 500 companies, to our Federal Government, non-profit organizations, private companies as well as trade associations, Eric has earned the reputation as a dynamic presenter, facilitator, executive coach and friend.

Eric is married to his wife Cindy and has 2 daughters.

